A Liveaboard Art Retreat in the Maldives

BLUE OCEAN
MALDIVES

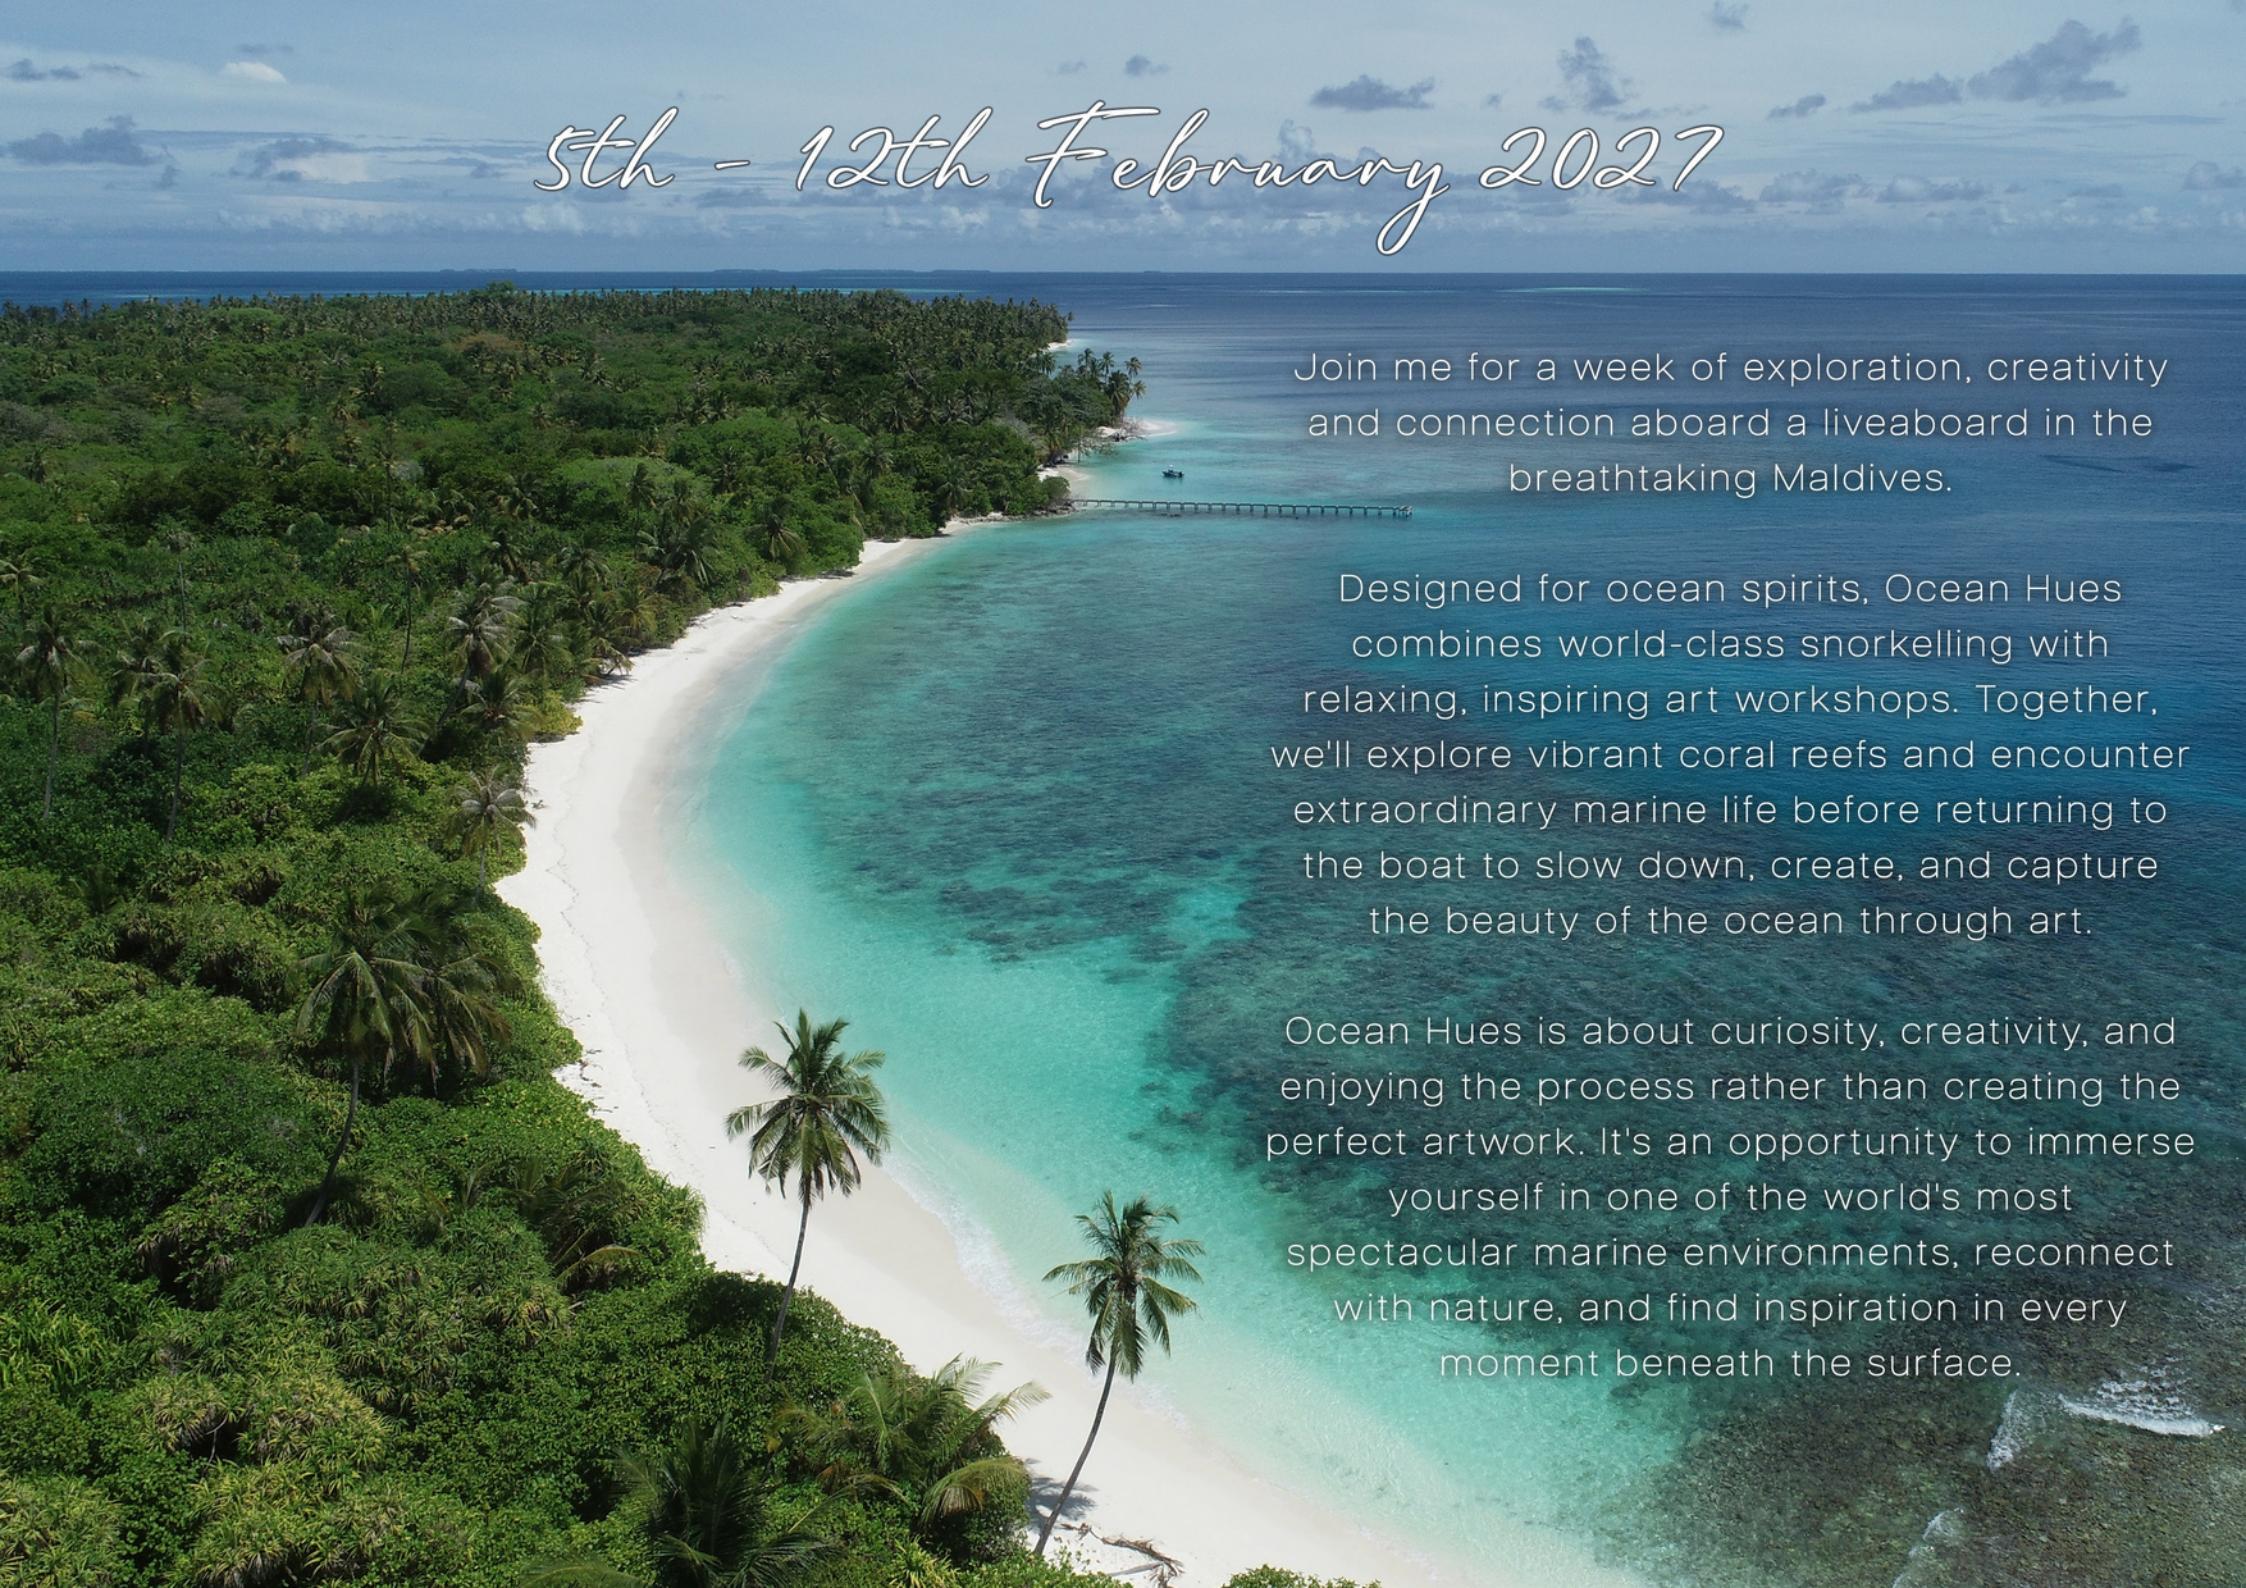

Meet your retreat host

Hi! I'm Johanna, a biologist-turned-wildlife artist from Finland, now based in Germany. I spent much of my childhood in Southeast Asia, surrounded by tropical beaches and turquoise waters, where my fascination with nature first began. It was years later, in the Maldives, that I truly fell in love with the ocean. Observing its bustling reefs and extraordinary marine life inspires the work I create today.

Ocean Hues brings together my two greatest passions: exploring the underwater world and creating art. The ocean is where I feel most alive, and through this retreat, I hope to help you slow down, revel in the moment amidst the stunning surroundings of the Maldives, and capture the beauty of the ocean through art.

5th - 12th February 2027

Join me for a week of exploration, creativity and connection aboard a liveaboard in the breathtaking Maldives.

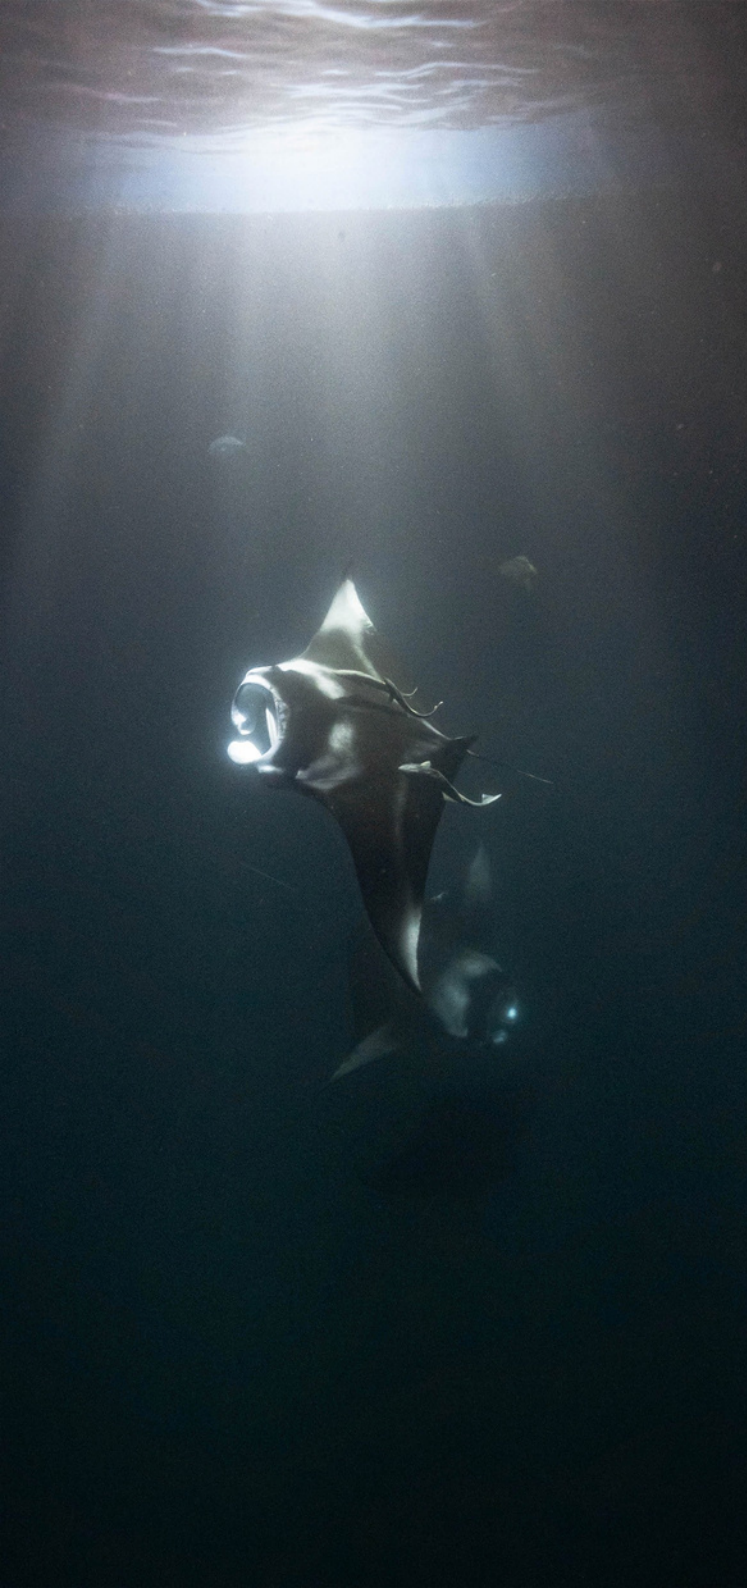

Designed for ocean spirits, Ocean Hues combines world-class snorkelling with relaxing, inspiring art workshops. Together, we'll explore vibrant coral reefs and encounter extraordinary marine life before returning to the boat to slow down, create, and capture the beauty of the ocean through art.

Ocean Hues is about curiosity, creativity, and enjoying the process rather than creating the perfect artwork. It's an opportunity to immerse yourself in one of the world's most spectacular marine environments, reconnect with nature, and find inspiration in every moment beneath the surface.

Your retreat includes:

- Daily guided snorkelling on vibrant coral reefs
- The opportunity to encounter incredible marine life, including whale sharks, manta rays and sea turtles
- Relaxing watercolor workshops with personal guidance from wildlife artist Johanna Excell
- Comfortable liveaboard accommodation
- All meals throughout the retreat
- Visits to idyllic sandbanks, uninhabited islands and local villages
- Professional photography to capture your experience
- A welcoming atmosphere suitable for all artistic abilities and snorkelling experience levels

The Workshops

During the retreat, we will use watercolor to capture the magic of the underwater world, creating beautiful textured backgrounds inspired by the colors of the ocean, and painting some of the incredible marine life we encounter along the way.

No previous painting experience is needed. I will guide you through every step, from techniques and materials to creating your own ocean-inspired artwork.

Please note: Watercolor supplies are not included. Before the retreat, you will receive a suggested supply list so you can bring everything you need.

Participation in the workshops is completely optional. If you prefer, you are welcome to spend this time relaxing, reading, socializing, or simply taking in the beauty of your surroundings.
